Hello there! Xin Chào! Qué Onda! Salut! Hejsa!

Today, after many brainstorming sessions and plenty of pizza, we are now happy to introduce TPG!

You may already be familiar and recognize some of our works as we have been seen on national television, online viral video campaigns and in international museums and galleries. Over the last few years, while you were sleeping, we have been quietly expanding our team of producers and creatives. We are now TPG, a brand new, full service video production company dedicated to developing original creative content. From quirky online viral campaigns, large-scale film productions, art installations, television commercials, and everything in between, TPG continues to push boundaries.

Our most recent clients include, Phuong Vy (VietNam Idol, 2007 winner), Nestea, Coca-Cola, international art collaborative SUPERFLEX and artist Dinh Q. Le. To our credit, we have expanded the definition of what is possible by completing production of the film "Modern Times Forever". With a total running time of 240 hours, "Modern Times Forever" is considered the longest film ever made which world premiered in Helsinki, Finland in April 2011 and is currently being screened in Paris, France, with other locations planned.
